

Static Control Announces Partnerships with Established Resellers in Romania

SANFORD, N.C. – (June 30, 2016) – Static Control Components (Europe) Ltd., the largest manufacturer of aftermarket imaging systems and components, is pleased to announce three newly established reseller partnerships with Sky Group, Timi Import Export and Toko. All three are based in Romania.

All of the organizations have long-standing working relationships with Static Control, and bring a combined total of more than 50 years’ knowledge and experience of the imaging industry in Romania.

“Static Control is committed in its support of the Eastern European region and the territories within it. Sky Group, Toko and Timi Import Export all bring a wealth of expertise from the perspective of both the territory and the industry itself, placing us in the best possible position to deliver the timely and efficient service this growing region demands,” said Andrzej Jaswin, Static Control’s Regional Sales Manager for Eastern Europe.

“We are delighted to make this development within the Romanian market with these highly respected resellers. It allows us to increase our availability across the area within an established distribution network, providing access to our products on a just-in-time basis. This in turn will help to meet the ever-changing needs of remanufacturers with a broadened range of products and services, at the speed in which they require them.”
